Civil Air Regulations Amendment 4b-1

Effective: December 7, 1949

Adopted: November 2, 1949

IDENTIFICATION DATA

Part 4b currently requires each aircraft produced thereunder to bear a name plate containing the information essential for its identification. Under current requirements the name plate has sometimes been located on the floor of the pilot compartment or in some other place where the identification data may be obliterated in the normal use of the aircraft or destroyed or lost in the event of an accident. In order to facilitate identification of the aircraft, especially in accident investigations, the amendment hereby adopted requires that the identification plate be made of fireproof material and be located in an accessible place where it is not likely to be defaced in the normal use of the aircraft.

In order to make the required data consistent throughout the regulations the amendment further provides that the identification plate shall contain the data required by § 2.36.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this amendment, and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented.

In consideration of the foregoing, the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 4b of the Civil Air Regulations (14 CFR, Part 4b, as amended) effective December 7, 1949:

By amending § 4b.931 to read as follows:

4b.931 Identification plate. A fireproof identification plate shall be securely attached to the structure in an accessible location where it will not likely be defaced during normal service. The identification plate shall not be placed in a location where it might be expected to be destroyed or lost in the event of an accident. The identification plate shall contain the identification data required by § 2.36.
